Baqnahroque Space Art

The journey through the Lylivendur Galaxy and the lost wonders of the universe are brought to life, made with colored pencils, using the opposite colors. These drawings are conceptual artwork for a game I am currently developing, Baqnahroque. The colors seen on the screen were inverted, except the drawing with the four moons.

Within each planet lies a story telling the origins of history from its creation to extinction, rebirth, wars, sacrifice, and the survivor that stood the test of time. As mankind has struggled to survive, make profit, and find love, a corrupt history has been led to repeat itself leading to the ultimate cataclysm, Baqnahroque. Within the shadows, is a light that could potentially alter the fate of the universe.
